Under federal tax law, many businesses can deduct the full cost of new equipment and machinery in the year it is purchased. Tennessee lawmakers have discussed allowing businesses to do the same on their state taxes. Do you support or oppose allowing Tennessee businesses to fully deduct the cost of capital expenses—such as equipment and machinery—from their state taxes in the first year, similar to federal tax rules? *

The State of Tennessee has partnered with The Boring Company, a company owned by Elon Musk, to build the Music City Loop — an underground, high-speed, electric transit tunnel between downtown Nashville and the airport. The project has been described by state officials as fully privately funded, with zero taxpayer dollars required. Do you support or oppose allowing “The Boring Company’s” Music City Loop tunnel to move forward under this arrangement in Nashville? *
